

International Planning History Society Anthony Sutcliffe Dissertation Award

In honor of Anthony Sutcliffe (founding member of IPHS and Planning Perspectives), IPHS has created an award to recognize the best dissertation in the field of planning history written in English and completed during the two years preceding the biennial conference. There is no restriction on topic, but submissions which most directly and innovatively address the internationalism of the modern planning movement in line with much of Sutcliffe's work are especially welcome. The award will be presented for the first time at the July 2014 conference in St. Augustine, Florida, USA. Doctoral dissertations completed during 2012 and 2013 are eligible. Self-nominations or nominations from dissertation advisors (on behalf of their students) are welcomed. The award winner will receive free conference registration for the 2014 conference and a $100 prize. All submissions must include the dissertation in single file PDF format, a brief biography of the student with full contact details, identification of the main academic advisor(s) also with contact details, and a letter of affirmation by the dissertation advisor (or some other official university documentation) that the dissertation was completed and successfully passed/defended in the eligibility period, calendar years 2012-2013. Nomination should be sent to Sutcliffe Award Chair, Robert Freestone (r.freestone@unsw.edu.au) no later than 15 January 2014. The winner will be informed by early April 2014.
